Westland's emergency radio station must be off the dial

Regarding your article on the emergency radio station that anybody ought to be able to pick up, I've never seen an AM radio broadcast as high as 1700. Mine only goes up to 1630.

Caller fears Westland emergency radio station will be misused

I hope that the Westland City Council reconsiders building an emergency radio station. It will surely be misused. If we ever have a tornado or Y2K emergency, it won't help families huddling together in the dark to turn on their transistor radios and hear Mayor Thomas bragging about ALS.

Beating victim clarifies story, criticizes Westland officials

Dear Sound Off,

I am writing this e-mail in response to the article written by Ivan Heliman in the Michigan Community Newspaper dated October 24, 1999. I am the victim, Deborah Davis. I would like to clarify to Mr. Helfman, and to those citizens who have read this article, a few things.

First off, the judgment mentioned in the article was awarded because the girl I spoke to crashed into my 20-year-old son's brand new Saturn that only had 342 miles on it. It was parked in my driveway and this girl caused over $3,000.00 worth of damage to it. She was driving an uninsured vehicle when she hit my son's car.

Secondly, I was not "jabbed" with keys. I was hit with a fist holding a wad of keys and photographs show both the vertical and horizontal scratches around my eye region. That was the eye with the detached retina.

Third, the woman who attacked me approached my car as I was driving away from the scene. I admit it was a stupid mistake to get out when she was yelling obscenities at me. However, I am not used to being physically assaulted when I try to resolve a conflict by speaking to others. The last two issues concern the manner in which our city officials have handled this incident. First See SOUND OFF, page A-3

Romulus seems likely to appeal well issue to state's top court

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Romulus two environmental lawyers - Mark Jacobs and Barry Seifman -- reportedly will offer a press release this week outlining the city's plans on whether or not to appeal the state's appeals court decision on the deepwell issue.

The legal duo met behind closed doors Monday evening with Mayor William Oakley and the full city council to discuss the issues facing them as a result of the appeals court opening the doors for Environmental Disposal Systems to begin operating its first liquid waste well on wanrman Road.

Over 50 local residents -many bearing anti-well signs turned out Monday night and listened as the City Council voted unanimously to back its legal team on the well issues.

While no elected persons would state what the city's actions would be...it seems very possible when the lawyers' release their press statement this week it will explain why the city is continuing its expensive legal battle.

In the meantime the state's Hazardous Waste Water Site Review Board still plans on holding a public hearing at the local high school at 7 p.m. Nov.

This meeting is the prime opportunity for local residents and political leaders to speak out on EDS' plans to operate a hazardous waste storage and treatment facility at 28470 Citrin Drive (close to the Romulus-Taylor city line).

The last meeting attended by several hundred Romulus/ Taylor residents was mainly devoted to allowing EDS' personnel to explain the company's proposal.

The SRB Chairman Sher M. Akhtar surprisingly allowed a small number of residents to speak out toward the end of that meeting.

At the upcoming meeting (the Monday after Thanksgiving) residents need to fill out forms as they enter the high school, particularly if they wish to speak that night.

City Clerk Linda Choate was urged again by members of the City Council to send postcards to area homeowners making them aware of the meeting date and location.

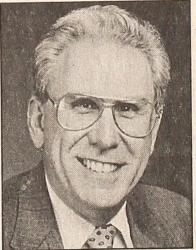

Choate again praised the team work offered by other city department employees in getting the postcards in the mail earlier this month.

Steve Sliver of the Department of Envionmental Quality said the SRB also plans to tour the Citrin Drive site area and parts of Romulus nearby.

Sliver said it appears the SRB's first formal meeting on the EDS application probably will occur on Dec. 16 at the

It is possible an agenda for that meeting could be released as early as Nov. 29. The agenda would give strong hints as to what are the main issues on the EDS proposal that the board will investigate.

Sliver said the board apparently will also try to leave at least a half hour for public imput at each of the future formal meetings.

Thus Gov. John Engler is declaring Nov. 7-13 as Winter Hazards Awareness Week in Michigan.

Fire Department shortage issue growing bigger

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Will Romulus' political history repeat itself in the fall election in the year 2001?

Four years ago, mayoralty challenger William (Bring Back Bill) Oakley used the disharmony in the city's Department of Public Works to help eke out a slim victory over long term Mayor Beverly McAnally.

This Monday night former Romulus volunteer fireman Mark Wilhide pressed city leaders on a similar in-house issue - this time the shortage of manpower (or even womanpower) at the city's four fire stations.

He urged Oakley and council members to quickly address the slim ranks of the local fire volunteers - so that one fire station doesn't always have to "back-up" another sta-

One of the toughest time periods to fill in the firefighters' lives is that 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. slot - a time zone when most city residents feel most comfortable working their mainline

This issue has been raised before in recent months/years at council meetings, but now it appears it could become a major political issue in the next city election about two years

Wilhide said he left the Romulus fire unit to accept a fulltime position out of town.

He feels Romulus political and Fire Department leaders must now consider similar job opportunities either full or part-time for the local fire department.

In the past, Oakley asked city council members if they want to deal with another union bargaining unit -- that would most likely develop if the city decides to switch the fire department to a full-time firefighter system.

Wilhide said he still has many friends and firefighter buddies still working for the city. He said he would be willing to work with city leaders on creating options for upgrading the department headed by Fire Chief David Allison.

A husband and wife living in the city – who prefer to remain anonymous at this time – expressed concerns after the meeting about what would happen if a sudden fire broke out within the city during daytime hours.

"We know that western Wayne County municipal fire departments respond and help out in major and stubborn fires," they said, "but our main concern falls in the sudden flash fire type incidents.'

Even two council members who provided a united front minutes before in the city's deepwell battle -- expressed deep concerns about the fire department shortages.

Veteran City Councilman William Wadsworth -- a potential political rival for Oakley in 2001 - warned the day of basically volunteer fire departments may be over. In addition Councilwoman Debbie Romak urged Oakley to follow the lead of other nearby communities and create a feasibility study on the fire department issues. Oakley said the city had recently hired four new firefighters and is in the market for more additions.

Any persons interested in possible roles on the local fire department should contact Oakley at 942-7571 or Chief Allison at 941-8585.

Lottery clerk facing hearing next Wednesday

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

A Romulus store clerk, who is accused of larceny in a case involving a $100,000 lottery ticket, faces a hearing in the 34th District Court next Wednesday.

The 27-year-old clerk identified as Layth Bati of Southfield was arraigned last week on the larceny over $20,000 charge and ordered held on $10,000 personal bond pending the hearing.

According to police, a 66year-old Romulus man (who is asking to remain anonymous) visited a Romulus store on Sept. 28 and asked the clerk (Bati) to tell him how many numbers he hit on his lottery slip.

Originally the alleged victim was told nothing, police reported, and later was handed $350 by the clerk, which would have been the payoff for four of the five numbers on the Cash-5 ticket.

The clerk reportedly kept the winning ticket, police said.

The victim left, bought a newspaper listing the winning number and then returned to the store asking to see his winning ticket to verify his win-

He reportedly was told his ticket had been ripped up and discarded.

Thus the victim called the state Bureau of Lottery and investigator James Barnes began to probe the case and found the wife of the alleged victim had underlined four of the five winning numbers in ink.

The ticket was finally found and reportedly been signed by the store clerk, police said.

The clerk ultimately was arrested and the Romulus man was given his real winnings.

Bati reportedly now faces up to five years in prison if found guilty.

Thomas-Gist continues to build its academic base

By MAUDE REID MCN Special Writer

Thomas-Gist Academy North, located on Rosewood Street, in the city of Inkster, has a mission statement in collaboration with the community and believes all students can learn, regardless of economic status, race, and gender.

School and staff provide an environment where all students can thrive emotionally, mentally, socially and feel physically safe.

The school also helps students develop creativity, achieve academic excellence and prepares them to succeed in a global free enterprise economy.

According to Quentin L. Mingo, Thomas-Gist School Leader, "the academy will continue to focus on the future, preparing our facilities, tools, strengthening our curriculum and providing students with skills and experiences for tomorrow's world."

Keeping up with Jones

By MAUDE REID MCN Special Writer

Congratulations are in order for Rosie and George Jones of Inkster, who celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary recently at the Ming Wak Chinese Restaurant in

The couple had a happy time with loved one, friends and well-wishers as they remembered their past, talked of the present and look forward to the future activities.

The Jones also enjoyed a dinner and festive table, organized by their daughter, Deborah Williams, of Detroit.

A hands-on, informational two-session workshop by Wayne County's RESA in the month of September helped set the stage for the 1999-2000 school year.

Teachers, school leaders, and parents were invited to the sessions, called Brainbased Learning/Multiple Intelligence.

This school year staff participated in an in-service workshops focused on classroom management strategies, MEAP Preparation and curricula

Subjects currently offered at the Academy are mathematics, science, language arts, social students, Spanish, physical education and health education.

Thomas-Gist Academy was awarded the Schools and Library Grant, known as E-State, a national program designed to make telecommunication services and other technology affordable for all elementary and secondary school districts.

Friends of the library elect officers

By MAUDE REID MCN Special Writer

The Friends of the Inkster Public Library held a meeting to discuss several projects for the fall and winter months and elect a new slate of officers.

Among the agenda items included the pre-sale of Romance novels, the upcoming newsletter, and a special book signing in conjunction with Black History Month and related programs.

One of the feature authors who will be available for the signing is Preston Wiley, who is the author of a book entitled Sounds For the Inner Year.

The new officers also were elected, and the slate includes Connie Carroll, president; Preston Wiley, vice president; Louise Adams, secretary; Margaret Goolsby, treasurer; Sarah Young, membership chairperson, Francis Watkins, co-chair, and Maude Reid, publicist.

Preserve Wayne's Residential Property! Vote YES on Tuesday, November 2nd PROPOSAL 3

× Yes

PROPOSED REPEAL OF ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDMENT

Shall Ordinance 99-21 adopted July 20, 1999, which ordinance rezoned lots 008-99-0013-000 and 008-99-0015-000 near the southwest corner of Newburgh and Glenwood Roads, from one-family residential (R-1AA) to neighborhood business (B-2), be repealed?

- The rezoning is not supported by the city's Planning Commission, which turned down this proposal twice.
- The City's Master Plan does not support this rezoning.
- This proposed lot split goes against the City's own ordinance.
- The majority of property owners in the immediate area do not support the rezoning.
- Arbor/CVS has enough room to build without tearing down a residence. They have not shown a willingness to work with the citizenry, only a willingness to make money at the neighborhood's expense.
- Proposal 3 was put on the ballot by citizens trying to protect all Wayne neighborhoods. Don't allow a precedent setting rezoning to take place, thereby leaving many other areas in Wayne vulnerable to the same inappropriate rezoning.

'Puff piece' ignored MADD's role in new drunk driving law

The article about Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) in the Oct. 24 Eyewitness was a puff piece, not journalism.

Though reporting about MAD-D's old lifesaving "Tie One On For Safety" campaign, you ignore MADD's role in role in initiating and lobbying for the new state laws penalizing innocent people for drunk drivers' actions.

Under the new law, which MADD lobbyists proposed, whenever a police officer catches a drunk driver, the car driven by the drunk automatically loses its plate, no matter who owns the car. Rental cars, company cars, family cars, stolen cars.

The paper plate, which identifies drunk drivers, also stigmatizes innocent car owners and turns them into victims of the drunk drivers, the state legislature, and the MADD members.

This call pertains to the upcoming election scheduled for Nov. 2 in the city of Wayne.

If the primary is any indication, for better or worse we could end up with six women and one man on the council, or at least five women and two men.

PROPOSAL 3

PROPOSED REPEAL OF ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDMENT

Shall Ordinance 99-21 adopted July 20, 1999, which ordinance rezoned lots 008-99-0013-000 and 008-99-0015-000 near the southwest corner of Newburgh and Glenwood Roads, from one-family residential (R-1AA) to neighborhood business (B-2), be repealed?

- Proposal 3 was put on the ballot by a self-interest group in an attempt to stop Arbor/CVS from moving from the Westland side of Glenwood to the Wayne side of Glenwood.
- The Arbor/CVS pharmacies at Glenwood and Newburgh AND at Wayne and Glenwood are CLOSING. They only want to move ACROSS THE STREET into a new, modern building.
- Without this pharmacy in our neighborhood, we will have to drive a long way to find an Arbor/CVS to buy medicine for a sick child, a quick gallon of milk, or those last minute school supplies.
- The new Arbor/CVS will replace a run-down, vacant party store and ONE residence. The new building and landscaping will be a beautiful addition to the neighborhood and will ENHANCE property values, not hurt them. People entering Wayne on Newburgh will see PRIDE and PROGRESS instead of the current BLIGHT.
- The residential property has already been rezoned and the owners WANT to sell their home to Arbor/CVS. This sale has been delayed for the last YEAR by the self-interest group. NO ONE is being forced from their homes!!
- The MAJORITY of ALL adjacent property owners SUPPORT this project. We feel that it is GOOD FOR THE COMMUNITY and for the PEOPLE, PRIDE, AND PROGRESS of the City of Wayne.

Voters make local choices at ballot box next Tuesday

Voters in four Western Wayne County cities go to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 2. Nowhere, however, is the competition more fierce than in Inkster, where councilperson Hilliard Hampton has enjoyed a big lead over incumbent Mayor Edward Bivens. In fact, Hampton killed Bivens in the primary, enjoying a vote spread of nearly 3-1.

Although we think Bivens has done a fine job as mayor of Inkster, we believe voters made the right choice in the primary. Hampton, a law enforcement officer with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, provides a youthful approach to the old problems of Inkster.

Married and the father three children, Hampton is a lifelong resident of Inkster. We believe his leadership is needed as Inkster is poised to benefit from renewal and revitalization. Vote for Hampton as your new mayor on Nov. 2.

Several heated council races also exist in Inkster. In District 1, incumbent Wanda Harris-Foster is seeking her third consecutive four-year term on council. In Foster, voters have a spokesperson who does her homework and carries a big stick when speaking. She deserves your vote.

In District 2 James Colleran, the dean of the council, has decided to retire and his heir-apparent is newcomer Marcus Hendricks. Hendricks, a cousin of incumbent councilperson Ernest Hendricks and an electrician promises to attract more business to the

We believe Hendricks should be given the opportunity to pus his plan into action.

In District 3 there are two excellent candidates incumbent Naomi James and challenger Lorenzo Moner. James, a two-term lawmaker and mayor protem is our choice.

In District 4, newcomer Janet Bostedor, the first unchallenged council candidate in Inkster's history, will automatically take a seat on the new council.

In District 5, veteran lawmaker (he has served four terms on the council) Ernest Hendricks is our choice to retain that district's seat.

And in District 6, we ask voters to choose businessman Danny Williams to represent that area. Williams has served on the Inkster Planning Commission as it's chair and certainly has the experience and planning expertise necessary to sit on council.

WAYNE

If you're looking for a city that has a strong tax base and exceptional city services, Wayne might be

One of its evesores, the immediate downtown area, has been in the midst of a major overhaul, thanks to a $2 million investment the administration and council worked together to get.

It is exactly projects like this and the ability to work in harmony as a council that allows us to recommend to Wayne voters that they return three incumbents - Robert Dickerson, Josephine Lentine and Donna McEachern to the council.

We also urge voters to consider Beverly Shackleford, a patient's rights advocate employed by the University of Michigan, for the council seat. We were impressed by the number of votes she commandeered in the primary and expect her to be a hard worker on the new council.

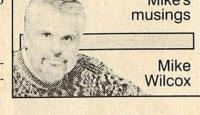

Voters in Wayne will also be faced with three proposals on the ballot. On the basis that employees have invested in their pension fund and that there is no tax increase, we urge citizens to vote "yes" on Proposals 1 and 2. These proposals would provide city retirees cost of living adjustments and also provide a one-time increase in basic benefits to all recipients who have already exhausted those adjustments.

Voters should reject Proposal 3 because it is postfacto legislation and would open up a Pandora's Box. If this proposal is approved, you can bet a costly-tothe-taxpayers litigation will be instigated and right now. It would be a toss-up as to whether the city would be able to

WESTLAND Low key campaigns are definitely in vogue in

bents Trav Griffin and David Cox, and well-known businessman David James have chosen to campaign as little as possible in an effort to keep the voters at home so that their supporters will carry the election. The three carry the support of Mayor Robert Thomas and his administration; thus, if elected, voters can expect more of the same.

That is why we support incumbent Glenn Anderson, often a critic of the mayor, and three challengers. Anderson, the leading vote-getter in the primary, wants to shift city spending from constructing new government buildings, like the grandiose plans to build a new $20-million recreation center, to fixing the city's crumbling streets and upgrading its water system.

Secondly, we support Michael Kehrer, who has volunteered on a variety of projects for 20 years in Westland. A protégé of retired councilperson Chuck Pickering, we believe Kehrer will be an independent thinker on the council and vote his conscience, not the mayor's line.

That is also why we suggest voters elect James Godbout. Godbout has a strong financial background and has campaigned to bring services to the neighborhoods. He is against draining the city's general fund balance, and he claims the current council is well on their way to creating substantial fiscal problems if they continue to champion a new city hall and recreation center.

And finally, we would like to see voters elect Michael Rintz. Much like Anderson, Kehrer and Godbout, Rintz would like to see the council fix up roads and drainage before talking about a new city hall. Rintz has been active in Westland for many years, serving on committees to better the communi-

BELLEVILLE

In the city of Belleville, which has had so much turmoil, including a recall election and ousting of the city manager in the last three years, it is hard to believe that few people have stepped up to run for office. Only two candidates sought election to the two four-year seats available. William Emerson and incumbent William Creamean. Thus they are elected

The race for mayor is equally blase. Write-in candidate Anita Picou is challenging incumbent Tom Fielder, who was elected to the post a year ago when Mayor Dennis Fassett was recalled. We endorse Fielder. He's proven to be fair-minded, and has been instrumental in calming Belleville's political waters. Even though the position is strictly part-time, Fielder, who is retired, spends nearly 40 hours a week on

The remaining council seat, a two-year term, is up for grabs amongst three write-in candidates. Rosemary Loria, who was appointed to fill the seat's vacancy last month when Brian Loranger suddenly resigned, is being challenged by 32-year-old Belleville resident Joseph Adams and businesswoman Patrick Danna. We support Danna, a graduate of U of M, and three-year member of the planning commission.

Those are our choices. You may agree or you may not, that is your prerogative. But I think we all can agree that the most important chore you have next Tuesday, Nov. 2, is to drive to your precinct an vote. We hope to see you there.

P.S. These endorsements were written after a great deal of discussion between MCN staffers Tom Mooradian, Ivan Helfman, Carol Marshall and Mike Wilcox. The endorsements do not reflect the opinion of one writer, but do reflect the consensus of the group as a whole.

Good employees fired because of labor laws

By U.S. Sen. Paul Coverdell, R-Georgia What do a drug store cashier in California working to make ends meet, tow aircraft mechanics from North Carolina working to realize the American dream, and a retired Georgia veteran employed by a federal contractor, have in common? They were all fired, three of them since May, for refusing to pay the forced union dues demanded by Organized Labor officials.

Under federal labor law, eight million Americans labor under contracts that contain language forcing them to pay union dues or "fees", or lose their jobs. In our land of freedom and opportunity, these workers have no choice...it's either pay the dues to a union they may not support ... or be fired.

Moreover, the more than $5 Billion annually yielded by these force dues fuels a Big Labor electioneering machine that exists to ensure the election of candidates who will grant union officials even more perks and privileges.

Is this right? Is it good for America? Almost 80 percent of citizens across the country say NO. Even most union households favor voluntary unionism. Employees should have a choice about whether they join any organization, including a union.

In June, U.S. Air mechanics John Masiello and Craig Sickler of Charlotte, N.C., were informed they were being fired. Although employed in a Right to Work state, as "transportation workers" Masiello and Sickler are subject to the compulsory-dues provisions in fed-

In my own state of Georgia, another Right to Work state, Hephzibah resident Burton Ayres lost his job at Johnson Controls, subject to a legal loophole because the plant was located on a federal enclave. His only crime was his insistence that he not be forced to pay union dues that would be used for a political ideology contrary to

And this May, in Mojave, Calif., Deena Chacanaca was fired from RiteAid Pharmacies, because she would not pay the union dues without more information about how the union intended to use her money. Apparently union bosses decided it would be easier to get her fired than to address her concerns.

Mrs. Chacanaca had become reluctant to join the union as she witnessed union officials misrepresenting themselves to other employees. They would have a reluctant prospect a membership form, saying it was a survey. But once the employee signed the form, union dues were siphoned from his/her paycheck.

"I just decided I couldn't give my support to an organization that was so sneaky and underhanded," she said. "Finally, a union official came and stood in my line and accosted my loudly, saying I was either going to pay them the money or be fired

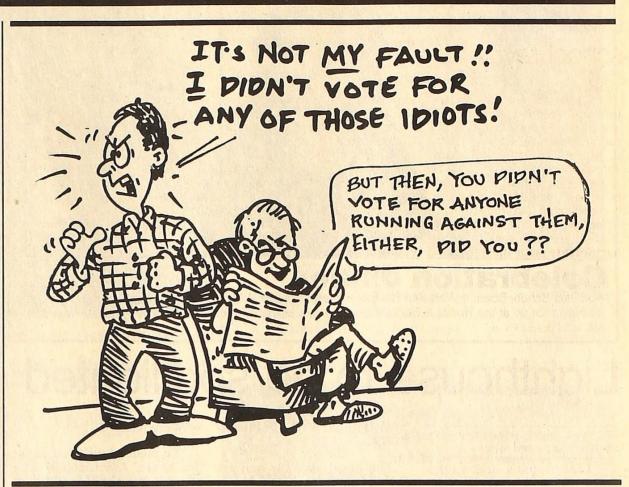

'What hurts most is that I loved my job. And I was good at it. But I was fired, plain and simple, because I wouldn't be blackmailed into paying dues."

Fortunately, legislation currently before Congress would prevent such unjust firings in the future. The National Right to Work Act (H.R. 792/S.424), which has the support of 19 Senators, including myself, and 132 Representatives, would restore freedom of choice for workers who now fork out an annual average of more than $600 each in compulsory-dues money.

Rather than add a single letter to federal law, this bill simply deletes those passages of law, created by Congress more than 60 years ago, which empower union bosses to collect forced dues. Even in states with Right to Work laws, this bill would aid the hundreds of thousands of workers covered by the federal Railway Labor Act or on federal enclaves who can still be forced to pay union dues to keep their jobs.

Perhaps Mrs. Chacanaca put it best. "It's just immoral for a worker to be required to pay union dues against her will in order to get or keep her job," she said. "I don't understand why, in the land of the free, the U.S. Congress hasn't done something to protect our basic freedom of choice in choosing whether or not to associate with a union.

The time to change this practice is now.

Ordinary voters can cook machine's goose

Once upon a time people voted. Elections mattered to every-

Nowadays few people vote, probably because elections now only matter to few people, and probably because modern elections bring out the worst in many people.

Take candidates. Their noses grow longer with each fib; their hearts sink with each stick and stone tossed at their opponents.

Take newspapers. Editorial page writers take to the pulpit like preachers, issuing divine endorsements from above, urging busy people to sacrifice work or family time to vote.

According to editorial writers, the eleventh commandment is: Thou shalt vote.

With the Nov. 2 Westland City Council election upon us, I guess it's my turn to preach. Instead of climbing on my pulpit, I'll do some street preaching.

I don't mind. There are worse places to preach than Westland's varied streets, which range from busy Ford Road to recently exterminated Hively Street.

Let me begin with Hively, where neighbors Carol Black and Gretchen Love report that Mayor Thomas's forces have won their rat war.

"We haven't seen any more rats," said Love, whose husband shot a rat in their backyard with a .22-caliber rifle last spring.

Elections matter to Black and Love. Their Merriman-Cherry Hill neighborhood suffered from a Norwegian rat epidemic that was ignored by a city administration dreaming of building a grandiose city hall until the pair of mothers stormed city council and demanded protection from the multiplying razor-tooth ver-

After bad publicity shamed Thomas into action, the city brought in experts to teach residents how to remove rat food and habitat and hired exterminators to poison the filthy rodents.

During the weeks before

Thomas acted, only Councilman Glenn Anderson and Richard LeBlanc tried to help Black and Love, but the pair could only offer sympathy and advice because they are only two independent votes on a rubber stamp council.

The election should matter to Black and Love and their neighbors. It offers an opportunity to change the city council majority from one that winks at an administration that had to be shamed into combating a rat epidemic, a serious public health problem.

Moving to Marquette Street, where the Ravencrest Condominiums back up to the city's Department of Public Services yard, once again we find residents for whom the election should matter.

Last summer, DPS permitted the city's garbage hauler to illegally dump about 20 truckloads of household garbage in the yard. The heap emitted a stomach-turning stench and attracted about 400 screeching seagulls.

Annoyed and disgusted, the condo owners called DPS, the mayor's office, and city council members for help. Only Anderson and LeBlanc responded. Eventually, Anderson and LeBlanc motivated DPS to remove the illegal garbage heap.

The majority of the council members, the ones responsible for forcing Westland residents to pay five times too much for garbage disposal, were either unapproachable or unwilling to pester the Thomas political machine, which depends on city workers, school employees, and campaign-check-writing venders and developers to stay in power at the expense of families wishing to live in rat- and seagull-free neighborhoods with well-maintained streets and drains, and at the expense of long-term financial stability.

The current council, which is running down the general fund balance, has no workable plan to pay for the city's ballooning future pension obligations. Pension beneficiaries, their friends, and their families, of course, matters to Thomas machine members, who consider it part of their job to vote against any candidate willing to kill the golden goose or to clean up the goose droppings.

The election doesn't matter to people who find fulfillment outside of politics: at work, at home, at church, at the drag strip, at the bar, on the golf course.

The Thomas machine, which can always turn out 3,500 mostly special-interest-generated votes, thrives on political apathy. That's why the Thomas-controlled city council temporarily pulled back from the controversial city hall and recreation center and TIFA extension. The machine knows that their goose is cooked if ordinary voters turns out in droves.

In order to get elected, the Anderson slate - Anderson, Jim Godbout, and Michael Kehrer - must motivate ordinary voters, common sense voters who only want city services equal to their tax dol-

Nov. 2 will be an easy day for city employees, with time off for voting or working the polls. It will be a difficult day for ordinary voters, who must tend to jobs, families, and bill paying. Perhaps 3,600 ordinary voters will show up at the polls to elect Anderson, Godbout, and Kehrer.

The election of Anderson, Godbout, and Kehrer should return tax dollars to the neighborhoods and give residents a lever to move the department of public services to respond faster to residents needs.

For this to happen, Anderson, Godbout, and Kehrer must persuade 3,600 voters that better services and a better planned city are possible and worth a 15minute trip to the polls.

P-CEP administrators await high school revote

To the editor:

The administrators at Canton and Salem High Schools are excited about the wonderful new possibilities for students, parents, staff, and community with the opening of a new high school. This process will involve change and restructuring. Pat Patton, principal of Canton High School, states, "We are eager to be in partnership with the Board of Education and support their road map for change.

As principal of Salem High School, I can say that Salem apparently endorses personalized learning, curriculum review, and many other initiatives that will enable us to respond to the needs of our students who are entering the 21st century.

The high school administrators continue to advocate for the East site and applaud the Board for considering a revote. After careful analysis, the administrative team concludes that the East location is the only site that will enable the district to continue to offer maximum opportunities and choice for ALL Plymouth-Canton students. The East location will not prohibit the creation of more intimate learning environments for younger students in three smaller schools. In addition, the East site is a fiscally responsible choice that will enable the District to be flexible and responsive to rapidly changing needs and new challenges.

The PCEP Administrative Team has submitted a document supporting the Board of Education's broad concepts for a comprehensive high school program. Mrs. Patton states, "We look forward to working with our Board to create a plan that maximizes achievement and provides positive, safe learning environments for students." All of the high school administrators remain committed to the best possible high school program for all the students in the Plymouth-Canton community. The administrators await the Board re-vote with anticipation.

Sincerely, Gerald Ostoin Principal, Salem High School

this democratic division of power can long endure. Our present Mayor is attempting to consolidate power in his office by hand picking his own city council. This is tantamount to giving the Mayor dictatorial powers: truly an unhealthy sit-

The mayor's recent letter supporting these candidates lists a number of accomplishments during the last decade that resulted from cooperation between council and mayor. Many of these occurred during his first term of office when the majority of council members were far from politically aligned with the mayor, proving that worthwhile programs can and will be implemented without a political coalition.

Although we have supported out mayor in the past and could possibly support him in the future, we feel strongly that a city council independent of the mayor's office brings about a diversity of opinions, reduces the possibility of special interest dealings and is essential for good government.

Whatever your feelings are, be sure to vote November 2.

Cox, Griffin council campaigns blasted by critic

To the editor:

I wanted to make the Oct. 18th council meeting so I could ask Justine Barns about the last minute charge she had to make about Mike Kehrer and a $1,000 contribution from the Jaycees, even though $501 was returned to the Jaycees thus making it a last ditch effort to throw some mud.

I wanted to ask Justine Barns "how" did this so-called info get into her hot little

And if she would name the so-called people who complained to her or, taking a line from David Cox (who I'll get to in a minute) neither confirm nor deny these names?

I would have asked Justine Barns if, as she said this was illegal, then why wouldn't she try to find out why David Cox was apparently living in Wayne while filing for city council?

I assume his wife knew about it in May or June, when he wanted to be on the Westland City Council. It was clearly an illegal act...so why not Justine?

That's what I wanted to do...but I couldn't get my blood pressure down so I stayed home. It's a good thing I wasn't there because, when I watched on T.V. and saw my old friend Andy Spisak and heard the bile coming out of his mouth..., my blood pressure would have gone through the roof.

I know Andy Spisak and I know he tries to tell the truth (if you listen to all he says out of order). Like when he said twice he served twice as deputy mayor...the last one was Charles "Tray" Griffin. Maybe that's why when councilman Anderson asked him if he wasn't part of a campaign camp, Andy and Charlie didn't want to answer the question.

Andy also said, at one point, that some people would come to this public forum and make untrue charges about other people. That's just what Andy did before and after that statement. I guess Andy was talking about himself!

Andy also accused councilmen Glen Anderson and Richard LeBlanc of rolling their eyes and making cracks while Ms. Cicirelli, Ms. Scott and Ms. Barnes were taking, quoteunquote.

Well, Andy, first: the council meetings are shown on T.V. The camera is only on the face of the person who is talking and I know you can't hear what anyone else is or isn't saying even if you're sitting with the people in the room.

By the way Andy, I noticed you were having a little trouble reading what you had on your paper and that you left off the names of your sidekick, Charlie Griffin and your stray "doggie" Dave Cox.

I guess it's true that when people write for other people they leave their own name off!

The elections are less than 2 weeks away. Maybe that's why Sandy Cicirelli allowed Andy the time to throw as much mud as he could throw. Remember that Sandy, if I come Novem-

What it come down to is people trying to discourage the citizens to come out and vote on November 2nd. The citizens better buckle up and get ready for a massive dumping of garbage from now until the elec-

I hope the people can see through this and do come out. No matter who wins or loses, the people will have voiced their opinions with their votes.

And I doubt that my blood pressure will keep me from the council meeting November

And Mr. Cox, looking at the 10 commandments, it seems as if you've broken 3 of them or is it 4? But you can look it up in your Bible.

Sincerely James R. Davis Westland

Speakers lose their constitutional rights at Wayne City Council meetings

To the editor: Thomas Jefferson once said: "I will not believe our labors a hope that life and liberty are on a steady advance'

CHIGAN

At the beginning of every city council meeting, Mayor Warfield rises and leads those in attendance in the Pledge of Allegiance. "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice

On October 19, 1999, upon entering the council chamber, the residents and taxpayer's left their rights guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States of America at the door.

It seems quite evident at the October 19, 1999 City Council meeting that only a select few had the right to speak if they were proponents on a certain issue which some council members were in favor of. Otherwise, if a person wanted to speak on a subject that the mayor was not in favor of, that person was gaveled "out of order" and was warned about being removed from the podium.

Does it seem that no one has any constitutional rights when entering the hallowed council chambers at city hall?

When Mr. Charles Johnson, a long time resident and taxpayer, stood at the podium to exercise his constitutional right to freedom of speech, it was quite clear that our "leader of the community" didn't like what was being said. The mayor broke out into an all-out rage and swiftly used his mighty gavel to rule Mr. Charles Johnson "out of order," and warned him that he would be removed from the podium if he should elect to continue with his comments.

Isn't this still America? Could it be our constitutional rights only exist outside of city hall?

Doesn't our right to freedom of speech entitle each and every one as Americans to be heard and not to be silenced by those in power?

Isn't this the same way that the people of Germany were silenced by their leader?

We, the citizens, should be very thankful that "our" leader

ing. This "leader" will no longer have the power to rule any citizen "out of order"

COM

It is our duty as citizens, not only of this great nation, but also of this great community, to stand up to what may be wrong with our government.

Hopefully, our next leader will treat all the citizens equally, with justice for all.

When the Pledge of Allegiance is spoken, let all of us listen and understand the meaning of those words.

I leave you with the quote from Abraham Lincoln: "And that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from this earth."

Then our life and liberty will then have a steady advance.

Sincerely, Mark Blackwell Wayne

Johnson claims that he was censored

To the Editor:

I submit to you my listing of all city council and private actions Re: Arbor/CVS land deal. These were "censored" off the record by Mayor Warfield. My use of the words "Campaign letter" misdirected the mayor re: actual content.)

I am not campaigning for either side. The citizen's vote on proposal 3 will settle the issue.

In an Arbor/CVS mailing, the second sentence of the first paragraph reads, "Following public hearings, on July 20, the Wayne city council then voted unanimously to change the zoning on the parcels to allow for Arbor/CVS." This is not council process to rezone the Arbor/CVS parcels.

The first issue presented to city council that night was to over rule the planning commission decision to deny the zoning change.

To overrule the planning commission, it requires a 2/3's vote. That would be 5 yes votes. There were 4 yes and 3 no votes. That motion failed.

The council then voted to

Now follows the truthful rezone the 2 lots. That vote required a simple majority. That vote was 5 for rezoning and 2 against rezoning.

The city council and the city attorney were then handed a written protest. A written protest requires a 3/4's affirmative vote of Council for rezoning. The City Attorney read the written protest and ruled that the council approving the rezoning of the 2 lots was invalid, because it would have taken 6 yes votes to re-

During the 2 weeks between council meetings it was learned that the protesting citizen did not meet the requirements to file a protest. Another citizen then brought another written protest, not to the city council, but to the city attorney. That writ-

Thanksgiving service slated in Romulus...

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

A community wide Thanksgiving Service is slated at 7 p.m.. Nov. 19 at the Community United Methodist Church in Ro-

The Rev. William Kren of the Methodist church will offer the Thanksgiving message.

The Rev. Arthur Willis, president of the Romulus Ministerial Association and pastor of the Pentecostal Missionary Baptist Church, and his choir will provide the music.

The Rev. Steve Adams of the Romulus Wesleyan Church will lead the prayers that night.

Members of all area churches are invited to join in the Thanksgiving service.

The international Salvation Army has been awarded a $2 million grant from the Lilly Endowment Inc. to assist in its massive hurricane assistance effort.

While hurricanes can devastate communities in a matter of minutes or hours, it takes extended periods of time to repair and rebuild, SA leaders explain.

The new Army's National Commander John Busby called the major gift "an investment in the rebuilding of lives, homes and communities.'

Since Hurricane Floyd hit, the Army has served 323,000 emergency meals and assisted over 425,000 persons impacted by the heavy storm.

Citizens wishing to make donations via their credit cards can do so by calling 1-800-SAL-ARMY or by sending a check to any local Salvation Army office and marking the donations for "disaster relief."

Local Salvation Army Corps offices are located in Westland, Dearborn Heights and Plymouth.

The life and death of Katie Luther, wife of Christian Reformation leader Martin Luther, will be aired locally on WOMC (104.3) at 6:05 a.m. or WMUZ (560) at 10 a.m. on Sun-

The program entitled The Angels Laugh, the Devil Weeps shares the trials and joys of the Luthers' and their impact on the Protestant movement.

Sponsored by the Lutheran Hour Ministries, the program also celebrates the 500th anniversary of Mrs. Luther's birth.

Additional broadcast information can be obtained by calling 1-800-944- 3450.

The next meeting of the Romulus Ministerial Association is slated for 1:30 p.m. Nov. 3 at the God's City of Refuge Church, 34584 Beverly Road in Ro-

Church pastor the Rev. Reginald Williams invites all interested Romulus pastors to attend the session.

The Prince of Peace Lutheran Church of Westland is offering square dance classes at 7 p.m. Nov. 1, 8 and 15. Donation of $3 per class are requested.

Felician Sisters set to mark 125th anniversary in November

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

The Felician Sisters of Livonia -- who service the St. Damian Parish elementary school in Westland - will be climaxing their 125th year anniversary celebration next

The year long celebration climaxes with an historic journey from Nov. 19 to 28 marking the arrival of five Felician Sisters in America back in 1874. Their key roles were the teaching of children of Polish immigrants in rural Wisconsin.

Anniversary liturgies or prayer services will be celebrated in the provincial house chapels of the Felician Sisters in both Livonia and Chicago, as well as St. Albertus Church in Detroit.

Services also will be held at the Mt. Elliott Cemetery of Detroit in honor of the late Fa-

4 local teams qualify for state playoffs

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

There will be a rematch at the pre-district playoffs between Romulus and Gibraltar Carlson on Friday night at Carlson to determine which of the Mega Conference, Blue Division co-champs will take on the winner of the Trenton-Monroe Jefferson game fopr the District 1, Region 3 title.

Romulus, which crushed Carlson, then later lost to Redford Thurston, was forced to share the conference title with Carlson. Coach Ron Woodson predicts the rematch will be "all-out warfare between our two teams.'

"These are the playoffs, and the games are won and lost in the trenches," Woodson said. "We're going to face a dogfight

Romulus is only one of four local teams that qualified for the post season classics.

In other match ups involving local teams - Belleville will travel to Detroit to take on undefeated Henry Ford, while Westland John Glenn faces a tough Monroe in its initial playoff test.

Inkster will make its firstever post-season debut at home at 1 p.m. on Saturday against Madison Heights. Coach Mark Townsend said the Vikings have waited a long time to play in a playoff game, and that time has come.

Putting together a makeshift line up to shore up an injuryriddled line, playoff-bound Inkster and coach Mark Townsend lost their second game of the 1999 campaign, a 16-8 decision, to Lansing Cath-

It was not the best of ways to end what has been a remarkable football season for the Vikings or their young coach. The Vikings came within one victory of winning their firstever Mega Conference Red Division title and their 7-2 overall record stands as a recentyear standard for the high school.

Townsend said he was "disappointed" with the loss, but qualified his statement by pointing out that several key players, including the "right side of the offensive line" was held out against Lansing because of injuries.

"I had to take into consideration our priorities, what our objectives were and if I Injuries sidelined Inkster starters Robert Jackson and Adrian Matthews, while Michael Gray played, but was not at 100 percent, the Inkster coach added.

Lansing managed to hold their hosts scoreless until the fourth quarter when back-up quarterback James Buckner, who replaced starter Michael Hunter, at the start of the quarter, engineered a 76-yard drive that ended with runningback Robert Scott's five-yard touchdown run.

Lansing had built up a 16point lead before the Vikings burst into the scoring column. Perry led the Vikings offen-

Hunter, while in action, managed to connect on five of his nine passes for 87 yards.

On defense, cornerback Lou Hawkins, and inside linebackers Anthony Wimberly and Will Morris each chalked up a dozen even assisted and unassisted tackles.

Salem leaves its best for last

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

Coach Tom Moshimer and Plymouth-Salem apparently left their best for the second half of the 1999 high school football season.

After losing five straight in the start, the Rocks came back and whipped Plymouth-Canton, 28-7, Friday night before more than 3,000 shivering but well-bundled up fans, to close out the year and the century with their fourth consecutive victory.

Salem and Canton finished with identical 4-5 records for the year. Neither team qualified for the state playoffs, which get underway this weekend across the state.

'After last year's loss to them (Canton), this was a sweet victory," said Moshimer afterward. "Our kids played well. Unlike last year when we let up and they came from behind to beat us, this year the kids got down to work and got the job done."

Moshimer also noted that their first four opponents his team faced this year - Port Huron Northern, Walled Lake Western, Farmington and Livonia Stevenson, all made the playoffs and/or had won divisional or conference champi-

"Once we got that first win, we appeared to gain confidence in ourselves and what we were doing. This team showed what they really could Moshimer added that he was disappointed the Rocks were not going to the playoffs, but "we are as good, if not better, than some teams that are Seniors Andy Kocoloski and Gabe Coble, making their final appearances Salem football uniforms, led the Rocks in the stretch and against arch school district rival, Canton.

Kocoloski turned in another superb performance as he rushed for 159 yards on 16 attempts and scored three of the team's four touchdowns. He also recovered a deflected offof-a-Canton player punt that set up one of his three TDs.

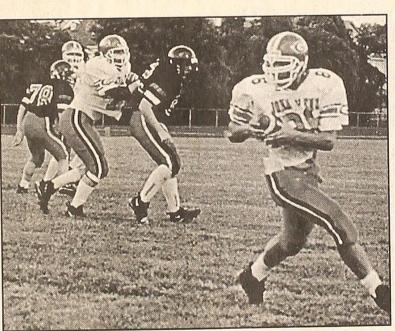

Goble carried 11 times and racked up 87 yards, including a 66-yard touchdown run, executed off of an option in the final quarter. Jason Furr afterward booted his second point-

John Glenn veteran coach Chuck Gordon (above) will lead his Rockets Friday to Monroe where the two football powers will clash in a pre- district playoff game. Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. The winner of the Monroe-Glenn game will have the privilege of meeting the winner of the Belleville-Detroit Henry Ford game. Gordon says that Monroe is a tough, physical and well-coached football team. Both will take identical 7-2 records into battle.

Wayne-Westland bragging rights retained by Glenn

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

Before approximately 2,000 cold but warmlydressed and coffee-cocoa sipping football fans, playoff-bound Westland John Glenn retained, with little opposition, the football bragging rights for the Wayne- Westland school district for another year.

With senior Glenn running back Eric Jones crashing through the 100- plus rushing barrier again and picking up a pair of touchdowns, the Rockets shattered any conceivable plan of a Wayne rebellion, 24-7. It was Glenn's seventh victory in nine starts. But the loss for Wayne, its ninth, brought the curtains down on a frustrating year for the Zebras and head coach Floyd Carter. The unstoppable Jones rushed for 180-yards in 23 attempts and he also scored two of the Rockets' four touthe uprights to make it 10-0 Glenn.

Catarino nailed

the ball between

chdowns in his final appearance against Wayne.

A legitimate All-State candidate, Jones has rewritten the Glenn rushing records. He has rushed for more than 1,000 yards this season and, a week ago, his 283 yards against Plymouth-Canton, erased former Glenn great halfback Tony Boles' mar from the Glenn record books.

The first time he touched the ball Friday night against Wayne he darted for a 55yard touchdown. That came after Wayne's initial punt of

The two cross-school district rivals settled down and played defense until the 3:38 mark of the second period when Glenn coach Chuck Gordon decided to give Catarino an opportunity to boot a field goal from 356- yards out.

Catarino, recently named to the Western Lakes Conference, all-conference speciality team, nailed the ball between the uprights to make it 10-0 Glenn.

Jones came back with his second and final TD. He capped a 55-yard drive, engineered by quarterback Josh Hudson, with a nineyard TD run and, after Catarino's successful attempt for the point-after, the Rockets enjoyed a 17-0 advantage. In the fourth, Dan Smitherman set up the final

Tigers edge Romulus for victory No. 6

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

It was Belleville and coach Bob LaPointe's last chance to receive an invitation to the big post-season football party, and they had invited who they believed was a cooperative and willing partner to the dance.

But until the last play of the last quarter, LaPointe and the Tigers weren't sure where they would be. Up North or at number qualifies a Cinderella team to the big ball, so Belleville joins Westland John Glenn, Romulus, and Inkster as the local representatives in post season competition.

"We came to play to win," explained Woodson, after the Eagles' only second loss in nine starts. "We could have kicked, but we felt we could make the two and win.

It didn't turn out the way Woodson had planned.

With 39 seconds left, Romulus quarterback Dave Moomaw fired an eight- yard touchdown pass to Kevin Thomas that put the Eagles within a point of forcing the issue into OT.

But Romulus opted to go for the two that could have decided the ball game. The call went to running back Charlie Thompson, who was enjoying an outstanding game against the Tigers.

With 24 carries, 146-yards and one touchdown, Thompson was the right man to get the job done, however, after he received his 25th handoff of the game from Moomaw, Thompson ran right smack into a determined middle linebacker by the name of Shaun Simota, who made the initial and what proved to be the game-saving hit on Thompson, followed by a score of others who made sure that the back wouldn't lunge into the end zone.

Thompson failed to cross the Belleville goal line and the "W" went into Belleville's col-

Given a second chance, would he had opted to kick? "We had nothing to lose, afin the second quarter, after a scoreless opening frame. But the Tigers got both of theirs in a period of one minute that rocked the stadium.

An atypical Romulus defense crumbled in the final 60 seconds of the first half as shock waves hit both sidelines. Senior Belleville quarterback Kevin Harrison came up with the first big play - a 24-yard run. Then, on the ensuing play, Harrison and halfback Willie Johnson teamed up for the Tigers' first TD.

It didn't end there.

After the kickoff, Romulus decided to gamble with a lastditch pass that backfired as Moomaw went to the air and had the ball picked off by Lawrence Chandler who returned it 40-yards through enemy fire to the Eagles' 17.

Harrison again came up with a big play - his second touchdown pass of the evening, and after the Tigers converted, the two teams went into the locker room to discuss current

Both defenses remained impregnable in the third quarter, but Belleville again got a break when a misguided snap from center sailed over Foster's head. He managed to retrieve and pass the ball but that, too, was intercepted.

B.J. Grimes grabbed the misguided missile and returned it to the Romulus 25 before he was stopped.

Then, on the second play from scrimmage, Harrison used the sneak to go into the end zone. The TD gave the Tigers the lead for the first time, Thompson continued to look good. The 5-10, 257-pound senior back rushed for 146 yards on 25 rushes and scored one of his team's three TDs. Jordan racked up 108 on 18 tries, while Moomaw unleashed 13 passes and found receivers six times for 86 yards and one touchdown.

Flyers shoot down Woodhaven to stay in playoff picture

It was a near-perfect ending for the Flyers of Little League Football fame. They won two of their final games of the 1999 season.

Despite an outstanding performance by the defense, the Flyers lost a heartbreaking 13-6 decision to the Woodhaven Sabres. The Flyers' Junior and Senior Varsity squad, however, came back with vengeance and destroyed the Sabres in the final two games.

The Junior Varsity crushed Woodhaven 40-0, while the Senior Varsity also shut out their opponents, 40-0.

In the Freshmen contest, the Flyers opened the scoring midway through the first quarter as Aaron Rollins broke around the right end for a 50-yard touchdown run to lift Romulus to a 6-0 lead.

Rollins' touchdown proved to be the only Flyer score of the afternoon as the Sabres came back on their next possession and answered with a 50-yard touchdown run of their own and then took the lead for good, 7-6.

Defenses then took over and the Sabres waited until the closing minutes of the half when they scored an insurance touchdown that gave them a 13-6 lead.

Neither team got on the scoreboard in the second

The Flyer loss dropped their record to a 2-4, and unfortunately eliminates them from the playoffs.

The Junior Varsity club

started slow but finished fast. Scoreless until the second quarter, the Flyers erupted for 28 unanswered points as quarterback Ahmaad Gambles went to the air and cut the Woodhaven secondary to shreds.

Gambles' first TD was a 40-vard toss to tight end Kenny Charles. The second was a 27-yarder also to tight end, but this went to Damian Taylor.

Gambles was incredible as he connected on seven of his eight tosses for a recordsetting 201 yards with two touchdowns. He was not intercepted in this one.

In the second half, the Flyers got touchdown runs from Ryan Goforth and Angelo Bailey to clinch the lopsided victory.

Scholar-athletes attention MHSAA to offer scholarships

There is a small cadre of local high school students who not only excel in the classrooms but also on the field of athletic competition.

And these young and unique athletes may help make their fields of dream come alive by mailing in an application for one of several scholarships made available to them by the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

The MHSAA, a voluntary not-for-profit organization, is the guiding light for high school sports in the state of Michigan.

The MHSAA stresses that thousands of students voluntarily extend their classroom day by taking part in extracurricular activities, often improving their academic achievements in the process.

The value that such programs play in the total education of a high school student is highlighted through the MHSAA's Scholar-Athlete Award, which is in its second decade of awarding $1,000 scholarships to 24 of the top student-athletes from member schools, and which will recognize over 3,000 other outstanding individuals in 1999-2000.

The Scholar-Athlete Award, underwritten by Farm Bureau Insurance, presents a scholarIt is amazing to see the number of young people who are proven achievers in academics and

ship in every activity in which the Association sponsors a post-season tournament. The scholarships may be used at the institution of higher learning the recipients attend during the first year at those colleges.

"It is amazing to see the number of young people who are proven achievers in academics and activities," said John E "Jack" Roberts, executive director of the MHSAA. "At a time when our educational system is coming under fire, the Scholar-Athlete Award is something that proves how important a controlled and regulated athletics program is the development of a wellrounded person's character."

Students applying for the Scholar-Athlete Award must be graduating during the 1990-2000 school year, be carrying an unrounded 3.50 (on a. 4.0) grade point average, and have previously won a letter in a varsity sport in which the MHSAA sponsors post-season competition.

Applicants will also be required to show involvement in other school-community activities and submit an essay on the importance of sportsmanship in educational athletics.

Each MHSAA member school will be allowed to nominate one student- athlete in each championship activity, and an individual may be nominated in more than one sport.

Applications are available through all MHSAA member schools or the MHSAA's Web Site - www.mhsaa.com.

Students must submit their applications to their high school principals by Nov. 22, 1999. Schools have additional materials to submit with student applications, and each school must submit all of its applications at one time.

Please note that individually-mailed applications to the MHSAA office will not be accepted.

A committee composed of school administrators from across the state will select regional and state-wide winners.

If you're planning to coach a junior basketball team or program, you might want to attend a workshop designed to make life easier for you.

Robichaud coach sees the light at end of tunnel

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

It's been a frustrating year for first-year Robichaud high football coach Mark Medlock. His Bulldogs have dropped seven of their nine games and it has been, as coaches say, "a very long season.

But the former All-Area quarterback who took on the coaching challenge two weeks shy of the Bulldogs' opener says that he is optimistic about the team's future.

"This was a learning experience for the kids and myself," said Medlock, after Robichaud fell short in its season's finale 21-14 to playoff-bound Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes.

"And I will be the first to admit that the season has been a frustrating one," Medlock added. "But it hasn't been a total washout. The games we lost were by a TD or less and no team really blew us away.

Medlock praised the effort of his team and staff and back Daniel Jarrett and tight looked forward to the challenge next year.

"Next year we will be back stronger and ready to play,' Medlock vowed.

Against Waterford, Robichaud came from behind and tied the score twice before the visitors came up with the decisive touchdown with less than five minutes left in the game.

Waterford scored the first two TDs in the second quarter before Robichaud quarterend Wendell Winn teamed up on a 46-yard pass-run play that put the Bulldogs on the scoreboard.

Jarrett elected to go for two, and his pass was overthrown.

Then, in the second half. Jarrett came back with another TD toss. This one went to Arthur Harris, a senior receiver and when running back Darius Robinson crashed through the center of the Waterford line for the two-point conversion, the game was tied

Jarrett, who had scored twice earlier in the game, saw those touchdowns erased because of infractions

"Penalties killed us," said Medlock. "We had one touchdown called back because of a clipping penalty and another was nullified because of an offside call. But that's football, and arguing with the refs isn't going to solve anything."

Medlock said that Waterford is a technically-sound team and he wished them well in the playoffs.

Glenn score with a 36- yard pass reception. Smitherman was stopped three-yards short of the Wayne goal line.

It was up to back-up quarterback Brian Ceckiewicz, a freshman, to get the job done, and he made up the deficit on a QB sneak.

Again, Catarino was good for the PAT.

Wayne came back with the answer thanks to quarterback Matt Patterson and receiver Jermaine Garner who combined on a 63-yard pass-run touchdown play. Willie Perryman kicked the extra point. With the exception of the

TD pass, Patterson had his problems finding receivers open against a Glenn secondary which was ready. Patterson connected on four of 15 tries for 99 yards, with the grace-saver, the TD pass to Garner.

Wayne's senior back, Kwami Hampton, who had an excellent first-down run for 29 yards, however, that was about all he could do against a Glenn line that found little resistance getting to Wayne's ballcarriers.

Kwami finished with 36 yards for the game.

Glenn made it a no contest thanks to the performances on defense of Chad Sansom and Dan Fedulchak, who led an all-team assault on Wayne's running backs.

ten protest did meet the requirements. However, to defeat that legally acceptable protest, Arbor/CVS decided to reduce the size of their rezoning request.

Over night that citizen's protest became invalid, due to that change.

How did Arbor/CVS even know that this second protest existed?

This Arbor/CVS fiasco has proven very fortunate for Mr. Mooradian, reporter for the Wayne Eagle and Councilwoman Lentine. Each of them has stated that they believe city council problems should be handled behind closed doors, he in print and she from her council seat.

Three cheers for Mooradian and Lentine, their advocacy for closed door and back room government has won again.

Fortunately we still have free elections in Wayne. On, November 2nd, every citizen has the chance to decide if our misguided style of government should continue.

If you want a change for honest and open government, the choice is in your hands.

Vote on November 2nd. Sincerely, Charles W. Johnson

Too many senior citizen suicides

To the Editor:

A terrible tragedy occurs every day in the elderly community. Instead of enjoying the later years of life, many people who are 65-years-old and over are depressed and considering, if not committing suicide. Recently in the news we learned:

• The highest suicide rates in the United States are found in white men over age 85.

 Seventy percent of the elderly that take their own life seek help from their family doctor within one month before their death.

• The elderly take more care than younger people to cover up their suicidal actions so they won't be interrupted. Thus, the ratio of suicide attempts to completion is 200-to-1 in young people, but 4-to-1 for the elderly.

The upcoming holidays can be a very depressing and stressful time for many people including older adults. Below are suggestions for family members who are concerned that a loved one may be experiencing depression and/or contemplating suicide.

 Do not be afraid to ask older persons if they have though about suicide. You will not be giving them any new ideas.

· Ask questions about whether there are guns in the house. Ask how they would harm themselves The more detailed the plan, the higher the risk.

• Do not try to do things by yourself. Depressions seems to surface even more during the holidays.

Remember your family, friends, and neighbors as this holiday season approaches, and reach out to them.

Sincerely, William C. Bishop President Family Service, Inc.

Hi ho, it's off to work we go

By CAROL MARSHALL MCN Staff Writer

Some 28 Belleville High School students headed to work last week during BHS's School to Work program.

The program paired students with mentors in the pro-fessional world, and the students had the opportunity to live a day in the life of the profession of their choice.

Sponsors from all walks of life-florists to judges to police officers and even newspaper reporters-took the high school juniors for a day, explaining to them the details of their jobs, educational requirements, as well as positive and negative aspects of their professions.

Program coordinator Cindy McPherson, while pleased that some 25 professional sponsors stepped forward to help the students, she hopes that even more sponsors will participate on the next School to Work day in November.
